Over 4 Million Attending College Extension Classes

Marion Star Bureau, Ohio State University, Columbus, Dec. 7.—Popularity of extension courses given by colleges and universities in the United States for adults and young men and women unable to attend regular classes at college, is shown in statistics for the country recently announced by Thomas L. Kibler, director of the extension department at Ohio State university.

According to the statistics there are more than 4,000,000 persons enrolled in the extension courses in the United States. The number actually enrolled in the last enrollment in the country, which is now declared to be approximately 750,000.

Primary Purpose. Many of the first students taking courses in the Ohio State university extension department lack previous college training and in some cases high school education, according to Kibler. The extension course have been instituted in many cities of the state and nation mainly for the education of adults who were unable to obtain more advanced learning at a younger age.

In the Ohio State university extension division alone there are more than 1,000 enrolled. Courses are given in many Ohio cities by university professors and instructors in the study of accounting, business organization, criminology, sociology, investment, corporation finance and principles of advertising.

The department at Ohio State since its institution has been open to three classes of students namely, regular members and part-time students, and students in the evening school of the country, which is now declared to be approximately 750,000.

Says Hoover Will Open Eyes of Business Men to S. A. Opportunities

President-Elect Throwing Searchlight on Neighboring Countries; Loans Are Principal Problems, President of Pan-American Congress Asserts

New York, Dec. 7.—President-elect Hoover is "throwing the searchlight" on South America and will open the eyes of business men of the United States to its "potential opportunities," Dr. Clarence J. Owens, president of the Pan-American Commercial Congress, declared in an interview today. He referred to South America as the "continent of opportunity."

"South America offers the United States unlimited opportunities for business expansion," said Dr. Owens. "It is in close proximity to us and has tremendous potential resources untouched by lack of capital."

"Commerce is the language of peace," Mr. Owens knows that. We should develop that language and strengthen our good will with our neighbors to the south. If we do not develop trade relations with the countries of South America, other nations will."

Loans Principal Problem
Dr. Owens presided at the sixth annual convention of the Pan-American Commercial Congress which opened this morning at the Hotel Biltmore. Delegates were present from all parts of the United States, Canada and South America.

"What is the principal problem that must be surmounted in our dealings with South America?" he was asked.

"Loans," he replied. "Trade follows the loans. South American countries have no difficulty in floating billion-dollar loans but they do experience trouble in getting the United States to absorb a billion-dollar loan, even though the project be just as meritorious. There is no market for the smaller loans and they are forced to pay exorbitant commissions to float them. We need an organized program in our financial centers that will enable South American countries to float loans on a parity with the larger loans."

Dr. Owens pointed out that before the World War England, France, and Germany loaned money heavily to South American countries and as a result those nations dictated the place of purchase of raw products and manufacturing goods, and also what debts should be used in their transportation.

Situation Changes
"The situation is changing and now the United States, which turned to South America for business during the war, has cut in heavily on European countries. Our business is increasing steadily but we must be prepared to meet stiff competition from abroad. One way to build up the merchant marine is through South American trade."

"At present South America is floating bond issues for highway construction. This is the forerunner to large purchases of automobiles from this country. The co-operation of our business men in the making of these loans will result favorably on our future trade relations."

A friendlier feeling exists between North and South America than some time ago and the trend is even more favorable, Dr. Owens asserted. A big factor in this is communication—steamship travel, air and rail lines and the radio, all of which, he said, "is productive of good feeling and understanding."

Dr. Owens spoke highly of Mr. Hoover's plan for a comprehensive air mail service between North and South America. "It can't help but do good," he declared.

He emphasized that the term "American" should not be applied merely to citizens of the United States but should include citizens of Pan-America. The word "American" should be all-inclusive. He said the United States should recognize that South America lends in many things notably education. He pointed out that good newspapers were published in South American years before the Virgin fathers landed and that great universities in South America antedate John Harvard.

Dr. Owens delivered a prepared speech at today's session in which he outlined the history of the Pan-American Congress and its affiliated organization, the southern commercial congress.

Other speakers were on the program for talks dealing with imports, exports, trade balances, trade routes from the United States to the ports of the Americas, the movement of capital to Latin America and other pertinent subjects. Statesmen, foreign diplomats and consuls general and leaders in business and finance were on the program.

The Chicago Tribune refers to Congressman Britten, who acquired the notion that he was either Mr. Coolidge or Mr. Kellogg, "the International One-Eyed Connolly," whose reputation as a gale-crasher has become worldwide. Not so bad, even though it is from the self-confessed "World's Greatest Newspaper."

With ten days to go, this year's freight record through the Soo locks was 10,456,102 tons last Wednesday, an increase of 2,377,266 tons over the total of last year. Despite Mr. Resko's view, we can not help feeling that there must be some prosperity in this country.

Mr. Britten's Accomplishment.

"The house committee on naval affairs," reads a despatch from Washington, "after hearing its chairman, Representative Fred A. Britten, read the reply of Premier Baldwin to his suggestion for a naval limitation conference between committees of congress and parliament, decided today to do nothing regarding the proposal."

The reply of the British premier to which reference is made reads:

"I have learned with great interest your proposal for a joint meeting of the members of the United States congress and members of the British parliament for a friendly discussion of the question of limitation of naval armaments. I cordially reciprocate the spirit which inspired your suggestion and share your earnest desire for a complete understanding between our two countries."

"In my speech of November 13, however, I was not speaking of legislatures, but of executives of governments, and it was the absence of facilities for personal intercourse between the ministers which I regretted."

"To remove this possible misunderstanding of my speech, I feel it would not be consistent with the courtesy I owe the United States government to express any further opinion on the proposal, about which, as I understand it, they have not been consulted, and I would, therefore, only repeat my appreciation of your friendly sentiments."

Not only is Congressman Britten thus put in place by the British premier, but members of the senate foreign relations committee have voiced amazement at his unwarranted course. As one of them expressed himself:

"I read in the papers the proposal of Mr. Britten of the house for a joint conference between the British government and the members of the naval committee in Canada. I am at a loss to understand the situation in regard to the matter that should justify this revolutionary course outlined by Mr. Britten."

"Under the constitution, all negotiations with foreign nations must be conducted by the president and any negotiations conducted with any foreign government by other agencies is outside the constitution."

"If a treaty of disarmament occurs, under the constitution, it must be made by the president and ratified by the senate. It is done by treaty and not by congress."

Thus the Illinois congressman, who sought to take the handling of foreign affairs from the executive branch of the government, to which such matters are committed by the constitution, and at the same time assumed to speak for the house naval committee, of which he is chairman, finds himself in a very embarrassing position, which is as it should be. He finds himself contemptuously snubbed by the British premier, who sent his reply to the British ambassador to Washington, that it might be submitted to the Washington state department; he finds himself a target for criticism by members of the foreign relations committee of the senate and by the press of the land generally without regard to political lines and finally finds his course repudiated by the committee of which he is chairman and for which he took it upon himself to speak.

But there is even more than all this. It is plain that his course was in violation of the Logan act, which is embodied in the criminal code, which, following its caption, reads as follows:

"Every citizen of the United States, whether actually resident or abiding within the same or in any places subject to the jurisdiction thereof, or in any foreign country, who without permission or authority of the government directly or indirectly, commences or carries on any verbal or written correspondence or intercourse with any foreign government or any officer or agent thereof, with an intent to influence the measures or conduct of any foreign government or of any officer or agent thereof, in relation to any disputes or controversies with the United States, or to defeat the measures of the government of the United States, and every person being a citizen or resident within the United States or any place subject to the jurisdiction thereof, and not duly authorized, who counsels, advises, or assists in any such correspondence with such intent, shall be fined not more than $5,000 and imprisoned not more than three years; but nothing in this section shall be construed to abridge the right of a citizen to apply, himself or his agent, to any foreign government or the agents thereof for redress of any injury which he may have sustained from such government or any of its agents or subjects.—R. S. Sec. 5335; March 1, 1909, c. 321 section 5. 35 stat. 1088."

The probable explanation of the course of the British parliament, were the truth known, is that he was seeking to carry water on both shoulders, and was caught in the act. Congressman Britten has been recognized as a supporter of the cruiser bill, now before the senate. Should the bill prove popular, well and good. If his constituents approved of it, he could point to his support of it, regardless of whether or not it became a law. Should it prove unpopular with the Illinois voters, no matter what the outcome of the senate vote on the bill, he would point to his letter to Premier Baldwin to show that he did his best to sidetrack the bill and accomplish its defeat by seeking to defer consideration of it by his call for a conference by committee of congress and the British parliament.

No matter what the explanation; no matter if he were impelled by nothing more than an overwhelming desire to bask in the spotlight of publicity; no matter if his purpose were one of highest and best intent, the result is the same—Congressman Britten's accomplishment is limited to making himself supremely ridiculous in the eyes of the country, which very generally is laughing at him.

Controller General McNair recommends in his annual report to congress that the present force of 2,000 disbursing officers be cut to fifty in the interest of efficiency. Great Scott! Six customs boarder patrol inspectors have been arrested in Detroit, in addition to the fourteen previously apprehended, in connection with the $2,000,000 liquor conspiracy. As the days pass it is becoming far easier to explain the flood of Canadian liquor coming into this country.

President Coolidge recommends an appropriation of $53,067,629.02, to come from the ordinary receipts of the government, for the retirement of the public debt. In 1930 an increase of $16,824,921.46 over the present year. No matter what the result, it will make little difference to the taxpayers. Whatever interest savings may be effected on the federal debt will be more than wiped out by increased expenditures by states and municipalities.

Referring to Harry M. Blackmer as a scoundrel, Senator Nye, of North Dakota, intimates that the French court, which decided that the alleged offense of the missing oil witness was not a ground for extradition, was bought. In the light of such utterances, it is not at all unlikely that the French court's view that there was a political motive behind the demand for extradition is not wholly without foundation.

Powdered Milk for Infants.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

It is difficult and sometimes impossible for a mother to obtain dependable and safe cow's milk. Weaning (line has come) or because of the conditions of the mother's health, it may be essential to begin bottle feeding. In this event what is the mother to do? She will have to depend upon dry milk, milk powder or evaporated milk.

This preparation is made from fresh cow's milk. It contains all of the normal ingredients of milk, except the water. This preparation is the result of passing the liquid milk over revolving cylinders heated to a high temperature. The heat is sufficient to dry up the water and to leave the solid elements. There is another process by which the milk is sprayed into a hot cylinder. But the result is practically the same.

Of course, I believe in the use of the prepared fresh milk. In my opinion, this possesses intangible qualities which make it preferable. By adding orange juice or tomato juice to the diet, however, the child will prosper on food mixtures made from dry milk.

It is a common thing to place the fault for the failure of a child's development upon the particular kind of food it takes. If it develops rickets or scurvy, or some other trouble, it is natural to think the milk is at fault. As a matter of fact, however, there are other elements which must be considered. As I have indicated, by giving the supplementary foods, the dry milk can be taken with safety.

We do not look for scurvy in children as they did in the olden times. As a matter of fact, scurvy as it was known then, is never seen at present. But there are certain conditions where there is lack of development which may indicate a low degree of scurvy. The giving of orange juice or tomato juice will prevent this possibility.

There are some writers on infant feeding who feel infants fed on dry milk are just as well off as those who have modified cow's milk. As I have indicated, it is not my choice to give dry milk in preference to cow's milk. But in those cases where it is difficult to obtain cow's milk, or where there is any question about the quality of the cow's milk, it is wise to use the manufactured milk.

BOULDER DAM DREAMS AND REALITY.

AS is generally known, the Boulder Dam bill has the right-of-way in the federal senate and certain members of that body threaten to resist in every possible way any attempt to dislodge it. However, the sobering report of the board of engineers headed by General Sibley which was appointed to analyze the project should have the effect of postponing action on the important measure for an indefinite period. For clearly the problem of controlling the waters of the Colorado river and making them serve a number of useful purposes requires far more thorough study than it has yet received.

Senator Smoot, one of the outspoken critics of the pending bill, points out that the report of the engineers confirms practically all the major criticisms raised against the measure at the last session of congress. For its enthusiastic advocates have underestimated the cost of the project, by not less than $51,000,000, have indulged in dreams of large revenues from the distribution of hydroelectric power for which the expert investigators found little foundation, and have urged construction plans which are unsafe and unsound.

It is not necessary to impugn the sincerity and good faith of all the Boulder dam boosters, and no one will charge them with criminal indifference to grave risks. Yet the fact remains that, had congress made a full and complete study of the bill and enacted it in the form in which it was submitted, the dam thus authorized might have brought about a great disaster. Not even the Boulder dam boosters, well financed as they seem to be, can have the audacity in the face of the engineers' report to demand favorable action in the senate upon the bill in its present form. It should be reexamined by the appropriate committee, and further careful inquiries into all aspects of the project should be provided for.—Chicago News.

DIPHTHERIA PREVENTION.

With complete cooperation between parents and physicians it will be possible to stamp out the epidemic of diphtheria which has made its appearance in the district among the school children of one section of the city. Thanks to the development of tests and immunizing treatments it is now possible to check the spread of this disease. But there must be a full cooperation by the parents of the city with the rules of vaccination. It is possible to render immune to the infection children who have not yet been exposed, and it is far better that this should be done than to wait for exposure.

Discovery of "carriers" of the disease, children in whose throats the germs are lodged and who are therefore possible spreaders of the infection, makes it urgently desirable that the area of immunization should be extended widely; should, in fact, be carried throughout the district and not confined to the section in which the outbreak now prevails.

In these days of motor travel a child who is in the first stages of diphtheria infection, and is therefore a carrier, may spread the disease over a wide area, as it is carried about on family visits far beyond its own neighborhood. There is, in truth, no such thing as strict localization of an infectious disease. Even quarantine promptly instituted fails to concentrate cases within a narrow radius. The sure method of protection is through test and immunizing treatments, and if these measures are fully adopted this outbreak will quickly cease.—Washington Star.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. MINTYRE.

New York, Dec. 7.—Thoughtful while strolling New York has been over more carefully-dressed taxi drivers than any other big city. George Gershwin's fighting jaw. A yacht club flag shop. Those corner clocks are never right. Captain Jim Churchill dining at Schrafft's. Walter Catlett, my favorite clown.

The new four-dollar-a-pound candy store in the Savoy-Plaza—and boxes priced up to $300, too. Frank Sullivan is growing stout. The delicious and depressing mood of a craft. More electrical shoe-whine parlors. Marjorie Oelrichs, who thinks European men are nicer—walking with her mamma. Editor E. D. Coblentz. One of my 200 or so bosses.

Robert C. Benchley, a Worcester, Massachusetts, boy, who made good in the city. Retired business men who spend the day in branch brokerage offices. Muttering old men picking up pins and strifings. Nothing so fascinating to New York as an abandoned building. A famous cigar-endorsing athlete, smoking a pipe. Treason!

The tearing down of the Herald building marks the fadeout of another illustrious Broadway landmark. In the old days, with its sidewalk view of roasting presses, it was a high spot of New York. Along the corridors at night were the solid rows of solemn owls blinking green eyes, and through the windows could be seen the scurry and confusion of the worst-heckled editorial staff in this or any one's else town. Then the Herald moved and the little triangular square became a scene of sudden desolation. Various merchandising enterprises struggled there for brief periods and expired. The difficulty in crossing the streets to reach Herald square did much to doom it.

Tipped Out.

BY GARRETT P. SERVICE.

A remarkable explanation of the gradual northward migration of the Mexican race in Central America, and of the final appearance of the race after it had reached Chichen Itza and Mayapan, near the Yucatan point of Yucatan, is offered, in Science, by L. G. Huntley, of Pittsburgh. It is the story of expulsion by geological forces, and it is read in the underground water courses of the region. The moving force, Mr. Huntley says, was a progressive raising of the land from the south. This drained away the water and so virtually tipped out the inhabitants by depriving their rich fields of the abundant moisture which had enabled them to support millions of people.

The entire peninsula, Mr. Huntley points out, is unique in the fact that while it has still an abundant rainfall it possesses little or no surface water, with the exception of a few rivers around the edges and small scattered lakes, or "cenotes" without visible outlets. In the rainy season a shallow surface stream appears, it soon disappears in the porous limestone which composes the whole country, and is filled with underground channels. Along the coast and near the branches of the Usamachila river great springs exist, and these may indicate the points of emergence of lost water courses.

There is a comparatively large lake in Central Yucatan which has no outlet. The lake, together with pools and "cenotes" which contain some water, appear to have a uniform water table, the water in them having a common level regardless of the rainy season. At over the country are dry sink holes which formerly contained water. Thus, the temple city of Tikal lies beside the bed of what was once an extensive lake, but which now contains only a little stagnant water.

Now, the geological record, says Mr. Huntley, thus shows a progressive tilting of the land from the south, "which has raised the surface above the permanent water table in the cavernous limestone bedrock, draining the lakes and 'cenotes' from the bottom progressively northward." Only remnants of them now remain.

At present the country, though containing wide areas of forest, has not a sufficient permanent water supply to maintain a large population. After the diminution of the underground water supply had begun, Mr. Huntley suggests, the stagnant nature of the water that remained, the lack of sanitation, indicated by the custom of throwing the bodies of sacrificial victims into deep holes connected with the underground water courses, and other similar causes might have induced epidemics which hastened the practical extinction of the race, especially after it had been crowded into the narrowing northward part of Yucatan. There, depleted in number and weakened morally and physically by disease, the once flourishing Mayas, whose knowledge of some of the elements of astronomy, as well as their skill in architecture show how high they had once stood among the ancient peoples, fell an easy prey to the Toltecs from the north.

If this theory should prove well founded it would be only an additional example of how changes of the earth's surface, originating from internal causes, have sometimes driven mankind, notwithstanding its "great empires," hither or thither like flocks of sheep.—Copyright, 1928, International Feature Service, Inc.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

A few years ago it was predicted that the day of the public speaker was about over. The increase of printed matter, the popularity of motion pictures, music, and other entertainment seemed about to put oratory out of business. But now the radio has made public speaking a greater power than ever before. An audience of 250 is turned into an audience of 250,000 or more. Even old Demosthenes might have had stage fright if he knew he was about to speak to a quarter of a million Greeks.

The radio has vastly increased the opportunity of entertainment for hundreds of thousands. The best thing it has done, perhaps, is to make the rank and file of folks aware of political affairs and the significance of public questions. When even Daniel Webster or Henry Clay, the impressive Calhoun made a speech comparatively few heard then and the written report reached comparatively few more until long after the issue was no longer alive.

One wonders if the Civil war might have been averted by the radio.

It was said by a thoughtful person a long time ago that public instruction should be the first object of government. No matter what his personal behavior may be, the man or woman who has no curiosity about the way in which his government is operated can hardly be called a good citizen.

DOES CUPID FAVOR 20-40 ROMANCES?

It would seem so from number of recent May and September weddings. Dolores Costello (left), fair and twenty, became the bride of John Barrymore (right), royal thespian, who could "almost have been her father." But that's neither here nor there. Nor can there be any question as to the happiness of Ruby Keeler, who in all her radiant beauty of eighteen summers, is the happy wife of Al Tolson, the "singin' fool." The latter, forty or thereabouts, won his wife from a youthful rival.

VOICE NEW ASSET FOR MOVIE STARS

But They Still Must Photograph, Directors Tell Girls

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 7.—With the advent of talking pictures the scores of girls who dully haunt the studio casting offices seem to have forgotten that though pictures now talk it still is necessary to have a camera on the set.

"I have a good speaking voice they tell the casting director. As one wary casting director remarked sarcastically:

"So has a phonograph but how do you photograph?" he truly beautiful or distinctive girl still will be the one chosen for film work. Parenthetically it is not always the beautiful girl who is in demand in films. The word beautiful written after a girl's name is not the central casting director's word of choice. Florence Vidor is called beautiful by her innumerable fans, but it is her acting that is the key to her success. It follows therefore that Paramount has a story specifying in a girl of picture appearance Florence would be cast in it.

Stock Questions

There used to be a series of stock questions asked by casting directors and written on the back of a set of still photographs left by an applicant. The questions were: "How's your play today?" "Are you a stock question?" "If a girl is to be registered in the casting office, she wants to know if she can speak lines. Has she a speaking voice, and what are the instruments does she play?" It is impossible to discourage girls coming to Hollywood film officials to declare and they will continue to arrive no matter what warning is given. Several of the highest paid stars in film are extra girls.

Florence Vidor played an extra girl in a tale of two cities with William Farnum and jumped to stardom over night. Her Daniels began as an extra girl in the film, and later was raised to stardom by famous players. Loretta Young was glad to get her work, but she persisted and was leading woman for I. Warner Kern for a number of years. She has been a star in her own right for six years. Laura La Plante was an extra girl at Universal City and now rides through the studio lots in a luxurious limousine the envy of all who behold her.

Youth In Demand
"Youth" is the big noise in film circles just now. Everything drifting toward the "collegiate" youth pictures are selling better than mature dramas. Producers say this makes the young man and boy in greater demand than the more qualified actor who has long since passed his majority. The new limit at present, for the greater part of them, is 18, 19 and 20. The demand is more pronounced for London than here. Rudolph Valentino brought in the age of Latin types and his continuing death appeared to diminish the interest in dark complexioned film stars, producers said.

There is one type of extra who is no longer in demand, producers are noted. This type is the one familiar downer, or grand dame of the stage. She used to be a standard of all stage productions, producers point out, but now that realism is the keynote of motion pictures producers say the downer has gone into the discard but she never was anything more than a "stage" character and not existent in real life.

COMMISSION MERCHANTS TO MEET IN JANUARY

Atlanta, Ga.—Laborate arrangements are being made for the convening of several thousand delegates to the thirty-seventh annual convention of the League of Commission Merchants to be held here January 9-11.

An all day stop of the trains will be made at Asheville, N. C. en route. Here the merchants will be treated to a full day of entertainment before continuing to Atlanta.

An old fashioned Southern bar became a visit to the Mount Vernon Confederate memorial and a huge ball according to the Southern style are to be entertainment features of the three day meeting here. Proposal To Have Piano Playing Taught in Public Schools Advocated Here

Move To Establish New Course of Instruction Is Backed by Mrs. H. K. Mouser, State Music Chairman of Federated Clubs; Others Co-Operating

With the trend in large cities throughout the United States, Mrs. H. K. Mouser, state music chairman of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, with the co-operation of C. L. Mouser, director of the local school system, is at work now on a plan to bring about the teaching of piano in the public schools of the city.

The music department of the Federation of Women's clubs has been interested in the standardization of music credits in school with this ultimate plan in view. Mrs. Mouser and Mr. Jaynes are working with Miss Edith Keller, state supervisor of music at Columbus, with local supervisors and the Music Teachers association, to accomplish this.

It is the desire of the local people in charge to stimulate the children in their appreciation of harmony, to develop piano technique and to train the ear to music, all of which are brought out in the course which they hope to have established here.

Plan of Operation

The course, as it is being operated in other schools, is open to children from the third grade in school, through the higher grades, in classes of not less than 10 nor more than 30. One hour is devoted to the study of music each week, at a cost of from 10 cents to 45 cents a lesson, usually paid for in 10 lessons at a time.

Classes are conducted in much the same manner as classes in mathematics, English, etc., except that more personal attention is given the pupil. The system was endorsed by the Music Supervisors' National conference in Chicago last April, and the piano chosen as the medium for curricular instruction because it shares with the organ and harp the distinction of being the only instrument through which the three major elements in music—rhythm, melody and harmony—may be expressed.

Card Keyboards Furnished

One piano is used for a class of 10, with one instructor. Cardboard key-boards are either furnished for each child or he buys his own, and are at least four octaves in length. Classes are arranged partly in or partly out of school hours, never taking more than 15 minutes of school time. The idea is similar to the Fletcher-Kopp, Dunning and Progressive series, systems of study, and is a foundation for future study in voice, violin, or other forms of music.

Warren G. Harding, in one of his speeches, said of music: "We need not have too much music; we need it—the world needs it—probably more than ever before, and I am its friend of every effort to give it its rightful place in our national life," and it is upon this idea and the growing need of music instruction in the public schools that Mrs. Mouser and Mr. Jaynes are working. It is announced.

TEXAS CELEBRATES

Birth of Aviation Observed Planned in Seven-Day Program

Fort Worth, Dec. 7.—Aviation's twenty-fifth birthday will be celebrated with special programs during the seven-day observance of the event, which begins the week of Dec. 17, according to an announcement by the aviation committee of the Fort Worth Association of Commerce.

Schools, civic clubs, homes and store show-windows will enter into the observance plans of the committee.

Various phases of the development of aviation will be related by speakers at Texas Christian University, Texas Woman's College and high schools of the city during that week, according to present plans. The radio also will be brought into play in the drive to acquaint the people with the history of aviation from the day 25 years ago when Orville Wright first took the air in his famous machine.

Retail merchants will be asked to emphasize aviation in their window displays that week.

Meacham Field, Fort Worth's municipal airport, will hold open house during the week and local aviators will be on hand to demonstrate with planes at the port.

ATHER BREAKS, IS READY TO TELL ALL

Startling Disclosures Expected
When Northcott Questioning Is Resumed

Riverside, Cal., Dec. 7.—New and startling disclosures are expected to be made here tomorrow when questioning of Cyrus Northcott, 61-year-old father of Gordon Stewart Northcott, is resumed.

Field as a material witness, the doctor Northcott, now confined in the city hospital detention ward, has promised to tell everything he knows about what happened on the so-called "murder farm" of the Northcotts at Riverside.

Confronted with information furnished by Sanford Clark, whose disclosures resulted in the arrest of his son, Gordon, the elder Northcott solemnly "broke" yesterday and asserted he was ready to "tell all."

Asked whether or not he ever thought any lie to the chicken ranch, Northcott raised himself from his cot and replied:

"It's a lie—it's not true."

A moment later he slumped back and added:

"No, I never brought any lie there, at I did bring a barrel of lime, south."

"Gordon told me he wanted the me to cover some bodies." Then the doctor Northcott told Deputy District Attorney Earle Redwine that he could be ready to talk Saturday.

"I want time to think it over," he asserted.

The elder Northcott also admitted that he saw blood near the "crime site" erected at the chicken farm, before this "altar," according to Gordon, that the asserted victims of their death. He said he killed a youthful victim there after they had said their prayers. Later, however, young Northcott repudiated this statement.

OHIO CAVERNS BOUGHT BY CINCINNATI MEN

Cincinnati, Dec. 7.—Ohio Caverns, nestled under a 300-acre tract of picturesque country near West Liberty, has been acquired by Cincinnati capitalists for $375,000 from Albert H. and Ira E. Smith, former owners of the property.

The caverns are located in the heart of Mingo Valley, former hunting grounds of the Indian Chief Mingo. More than 50,000 persons are estimated to have visited them during the year.

Some men's friends are only accomplices in folly.

People who live in glass houses could never forget where they are.

A lot of "perseverance" is just shirking.

I WAS DISGUSTED

I FOUND KONJOLA

Remarkable Recovery of Former Sufferer Described in Glowing Report; Had Been in Excruciating
Agony

Konjola has done me more good than all the other medicines and treatments put together. It is indeed remarkable thing and comparable to a miracle, said Mr. Jess Mowrey, 148 1/2 Fourth Street, Columbus, Ohio. Last winter I was well and strong, but I began slipping. I dropped from 178 pounds to 173 pounds. My strength and energy dropped away to nothing. Agonizing pains centered about my body. I was unable to move my hands and the wrist shrunk out to the bone. Many nights I lay on the floor, unable to sleep. I feared to give up my work and was disgusted with life.

Then I found Konjola and each day seemed hopeless this time went to the very source of trouble. It worked just like a miracle. It was a blessing to me. The pain vanished as if by magic. I knew what was happening. Restful sleep was restored to me. I gained in weight and strength once again I am a healthy, strong, happy man. Thanks to Konjola alone.

Konjola is different than any other remedy in this section. It contains two juices extracted from natural plants which invigorate the liver, kidneys and bowels to give healthy action. The effect of Konjola on the entire system is an amazing relief in cases of out-of-control that has been going on for years. At the same time, many weak rundown systems have been restored to a new state of health through compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have of their experience with this new product, until now, Konjola is the most highly indorsed medicine known in this section.

Konjola is sold in Marion at Stump's Pharmacy and by all the best druggists throughout this section.

BUCKEYE MATERIAL LOOKS GOOD THIS YEAR, OLSEN SAYS

Three Veteran Regulars Report from Last Season's Court Squad

COLUMBUS, Dec. 7.—Coach Harold G. Olsen's basketball team of Ohio State University, scheduled for another regular season today to prepare themselves for the opening of the Buckeye case season tomorrow night at the Columbus arena against the Bishop five of Ohio Wesleyan.

With the appearance of several candidates for the team from the football squad at the training session last Monday night, Coach Olsen began the final week of preliminary practice in an effort to round out a winning team from a host of veteran and promising material which has presented itself for practice this year.

While the selection of his starting team is causing the Ohio instructor to delve into the worth of each individual candidate, his job of placing a team on the floor which will be able to stack up against the best of the five on the schedule is not as difficult as he has experienced in years previous.

Three Vets Out
Three veteran regulars who, according to reports from the secret practice sessions are showing up well, will be back to form the foundation for the Starlet and Gray aggregation this season. The veterans are William Hinemann, guard, George Vanheyde, center and Jack Evans, forward, all residents of Columbus.

In addition to his veterans, Coach Olsen will have two players of the 1933 team who were ineligible for last year's squad and two other athletes who played at irregular periods during the season last year. George Dyer, center and Fred Schuler, forward, both of Columbus, played with the team in 1933 and are now looking for positions on the present team. Joe Cox, of Dayton, guard and Lorraine Gier, of Canton, forward, also strong possibilities of the squad this year, saw some service last year.

Sober Look Good
To further relieve the mentor's worries several promising candidates have reported from last year's freshman team. Included in the best of the sophomore possibilities are: Ted Wilson, of Lancaster; Charles Pauders, of Youngstown; Bob Tittle, of Columbus; Tom Stull, of Coshocton; Earl Williams, of Warren; Julius Chazac, of Lorain; Wesley Foster, of Youngstown; Allen Holman, of Fairfield, Ia.; Richard Larkins, of East Liverpool.

Wesleyan will have seven letter-men to compose its squad this year. Reginald Mitchell, of Bellevue, will likely be seen at center in the Ohio State game, with Harry Linde, of Cleveland, at one of the forward positions and John Mulhally, of Uni-

Matter Will Be Taken Up Again at Session Monday Night

COLUMBUS, Dec. 7.—Successor to Dr. J. W. Wilce, resigned director of football at Ohio State University, had not been chosen by today, the athletic board of the institution adjourning last night without coming to an agreement. The board announced that it again would take up the matter at a meeting Monday night.

It is understood that several "candidates for the position" were discussed, but the meeting adjourned without a decision being made when Director of Athletics L. W. St. John, his assistant, George M. Trautman, and other officers had to catch a midnight train for Chicago to attend the annual meeting of football coaches and athletic directors of the Western conference.

Sam Williams, first assistant to Dr. Wilce, is said to have the "inside track" for the position.

PRICE OF GLORY

Wittenberg Cage Star Will Be Marked Man

SPRINGFIELD, Dec. 7.—Whatever may have been said about a crowned head hanging heavy apples as well to basketball.

Captain Joe Keyser, star forward on the Wittenberg College team here, will have to pay the price this season for receiving many, many honors. He has been chosen on the All-Ohio college team for two years, he was highest scorer in Ohio last year even though his team finished tied for the bottom in the Buckeye loop. In the only unanimous choice in All-Ohio selections, he was named captain of the mythical five, he was captain of the Springfield High school team that won the state championship in 1933.

These honors are enough to make him the most marked man in this commonwealth, and guards, coaches, and team followers in a dozen different camps will make their plans to cut this boy away from the basket.

LIMA LOCOS BREAK RECORD IN MATCH

Bradley Drugs Win Match Came; Zeisler Rolls High Score

Records are falling thick and fast at the Recreation Alley this season and last night the Lima Locos rolled a 1034 in the second game to set a new alley mark. In spite of the fine showing made in the second game the Locos dropped the other two frags and the match to the Marion Bradley Drugs.

Zeisler held high score for the match with his total of 610. He was the only bowler to get over the 600 mark. With 254, Hefner of Lima held high single game score.

BASEBALL LEAGUES KEEP RESULTS OF CONFERENCE SECRET

Believe Giants Will Announce Deals with Cincinnati Reds Monday

By DAVIS J. WALSH
TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 7.—Organized baseball, was about ready to pull up stakes today, leaving Canada to the Canadians. The marionettes again had won an unquestioned decision over the fallen arch, as the annual convention of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues began to breathe its last.

Another thing left was a distinct impression of the international amity that prevails in baseball, and a third was the notion that five or six major league clubs had transacted some business between themselves and then neglected to take the public into their confidence about the matter.

Just a night oversight. It never would have happened to Addison Sims, the Seattle lumberman. He would have remembered somehow, even if the last installment on the famous memory course had been delayed in the mails.

To Remember Monday
The word is that the boys will recall everything by Monday next. On that day they say the Giants will announce that they have just completed a deal with the Cincinnati Reds. The deal was completed here two days ago and if it doesn't include Adolfo Luque it just isn't one I'm talking about.

The New York Yankees also are said to have swung something with the all the Boston Red Sox and Washington Senators. This one is understood to have been wrapped up and sent home, promptly, while the speculation was drifting about the draft. It probably will be announced during the American league meeting next week and if it doesn't include Ossie Bluege it isn't just on the level.

Hellmann Sold
They say too that Harry Hellmann has played his last game of ball in a Detroit uniform and may be summing up in Chicago next season. Bob Felt's name also was bandied about in this connection. The Cleveland Indians, they say, likewise are willing to barter with the Sox, which is only as it should be. The Cleveland Indians are ready to barter with almost anyone and almost without provocation.

Let's forget the draft question finally will be turned off, it is said, at West Endon, Indiana, in early January. Maybe after that is done, we all will have time to turn our attention to something interesting.

5c SETTLES A BIG SMOKE QUESTION

Can there really be a good cigar for five cents?

Some men will say it never was, can nor will be done. But this ad says it is being done—that there's a really fine five cent cigar to be had: Havana Ribbon. And it's been on the market thirty years. A cigar has to be good to make such a record.

And Havana Ribbon is better today than ever before. Immense production is doing it—so many millions made; tobacco bought in such huge quantities, we are able to use long-filler, ripe tobacco from heart to wrapper. And still keep the price at 5c. Imagine! No bitter under-ripe nor flat-tasting over-ripe leaves. No loose bits to come out in your mouth. But all fine, full-flavored, age-mellowed tobacco making a delightfully cool, mild, fragrant smoke. If you're one nickel in your pocket, man, set it to work and let Havana Ribbon settle the five-cent cigar question completely and effectively. Also Practical Pocket Packages of five cigars.

Gauthier Plans To Direct 1929 Bishop Football Eleven

Wesleyan Coach Has Not Received Coaching Offers from Outside

DELAWARE, Dec. 7.—Coach George Gauthier of Ohio Wesleyan expects to direct the defense of Battling Bishop football for at least another season and has not received football coaching offers from other universities this fall, says the Ohio Wesleyan Transcript, student semi-weekly newspaper appearing today.

Gauthier frankly declared that he had not been offered positions as football coach at other universities and stated that "in all likelihood" he would continue in charge at Ohio Wesleyan at least next year.

Concerning this, the Transcript article says in part: "No coach could wish for a happier situation than that at Ohio Wesleyan university, according to Gauthier."

"There is no finer class of boys out for football at any college in the country than here at Ohio Wesleyan, and every coach likes to have that type of material. The student body, alumni and townspeople all are loyal, both when the team is winning and when it is losing."

Hunt for "Dan and Lou" Discloses Two Copies of Elusive Poem in Library Here

LIBRARIANS all over the United States who are reading Dan McGrew and his Lady Lou, and the "stranger man from the creek" who enacted a stirring drama before the eyes of the boys in the Malamute school, will find all three intact in a great library of Robert W. Service poems at City Library.

This favorite poem of Mr. Service, in this particular volume, is tucked in between a little verse called "Grim" and an almost equally famous piece, "The Cremation of Sam McGee."

The hunt for this poem, entitled "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," began in Oklahoma City, Okla., when it became known that copies of the poem had been torn from every book containing it in the Oklahoma libraries.

Also missing in Cleveland When authorities at the public library in Cleveland investigated their shelves of verse recently it was discovered that "Dangerous Dan and his lady and the stranger man from the creek" had disappeared.

Now Well Supplied Unable to scent them out the local librarians purchased another Dan, an equally intriguing Lou and another villain. At about the same time, 1923, the others showed up, and now they all rest contentedly side by side on City Library shelves.

"Dangerous Dan hasn't proved nearly as popular with Marionites," local librarians said, "as has the title poem of the book which contains 'The Shooting of Dan McGrew'." This, a story of gold, Mr. Service called, "The Spell of the Yukon."

However, every one remembers the Dan McGrew story, which begins: "A bunch of boys were whooping it up in the Malamute school; The kid that handles the music box was hitting a jag-time tune."

black of the bar, in a solo game, and watching his luck was his light-o-love the lady that's known as Lou."

And ends in: "Then I ducked my head, and the lights went out, and two guns blazed in the dark."

And a woman screamed, and the lights went up, and two men lay stiff and stark.

"Fished on his head, and pumped full of lead, was Dangerous Dan McGrew."

While the Man from the creek lay clutched at the breast of the lady that's known as Lou."

PLAN AIR LINE FROM ALASKA TO CALIFORNIA

Portland, Ore.—Plans for an air line system that will sweep up and down the length of the Pacific coast from Juneau, Alaska, to Los Angeles, are rapidly nearing completion in the offices of the Union Air Lines Corporation, according to Charles V. Eakin, president of the company.

The corporation is now operating trimotored Bess planes between Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland and Seattle. The new extension to the northland will be inaugurated this spring.

A fleet of five Sikorsky amphibian flying boats, powered with twin Wasp motors, will be used in the service, which is scheduled to open April 1.

DE PAUW U. ABANDONS MILITARY PROGRAM

Greencastle, Ind. — Compulsory military training has been abandoned at DePauw University here by a decision of Dr. G. Bromley Oxnam, newly elected president.

However, training in warfare will still be in the school's curriculum as an elective course. Formerly students were required to take courses for two years in military science and tactics.

For several years compulsory military training has been a bone of contention at DePauw which is controlled by the Methodist, Episcopal church. The faculty last year voted to abolish the training, but a student poll showed a leaning to the courses.

Dr. Samuel H. Murkin, who preceded Dr. Oxnam as DePauw president, favored compulsory training.

It SEEMED as if there was always someone feeling out-of-sorts. Not exactly sick but languid—indifferent to food and irritable. And her husband, who used to enjoy the best of health, was now constantly tired and often discouraged and worried. What could be the matter?
Many a family, due to the lack of bulk in the diet, suffers from constipation. And this evil scourge undermines health and strength—even hope and happiness. It brings throbbing heads and aching backs, dragging feet and slumping shoulders. It often finally leads to untold suffering and disease.
Fortunately thousands of women have found the way to save their families from the evils of constipation. By serving Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—that healthful cereal—in some form every day, constipation is safely relieved and prevented.
It takes "all-bran" to be 100% effective
It is bulk or roughage that combats constipation. ALL-BRAN is practically all-bulk.

The mother who could not keep her family well because it is 100 per cent bran. This bulk absorbs moisture and carries it throughout the digestive system. At the same time, it gently distends the intestines. Exercising them—sweeping out poisonous wastes.

Part-bran products seldom contain a sufficient quantity of bulk to be completely effective. That is why doctors recommend Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.
Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is infinitely better than habit-forming pills and laxatives. A naturally healthful cereal. To enjoy with milk or cream. Delicious with fruits or honey added. Use it in cooking too. Recipes on package. Mix it with hot cereals. Sprinkle it into soups. Just eat two tablespoonsful daily—chronic cases, with every meal.
Insist on genuine Kellogg's—the original ALL-BRAN. Sold by all grocers. Served at hotels, restaurants, cafeterias. On diners. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Industrial, Specialty Stocks Hard Hit As Market Slumps

NEW LOSSES OF 5 TO 14 POINTS RECORDED

Radio Opens at 381, Down 30 from Yesterday's Peak Price

LOANS INCREASE
Big Board Boils Over as 1,000,000 Shares Change Hands

BY W. S. COUSINS
New York, Dec. 7.—Stocks rallied sharply in all sections of the market today, after an overnight accumulation of selling orders had carried prices of the speculative leaders from one to 15 points below Thursday's closing levels. It was the old story of an abrupt swing in the price pendulum carrying stocks to attractive buying heights where they were eagerly bought by the bargain hunters and the professionals.

BY W. S. COUSINS
L. N. S. Financial Editor
New York, Dec. 7.—New losses of five to 14 points were recorded today in the industrial and specialty stocks which received such a severe jolt in yesterday's big "shake out." Wiping out of margins and the inability of the small traders to respond to their brokers' demand for more money forced the dumping of thousands of shares of stocks on the market at the opening, causing the further widening of price gaps in the active stocks.

A block of 5,000 shares of Radio opened at 381, down 14 points from Thursday's close and 30 points from yesterday's peak. Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Victor Talking Machine and other high-priced favorites moved about six points on the average, which was to be expected as the natural aftermath of Thursday's big break.

The terrace board's report showed that "buck" loans instead of being during the past week, had increased $100,000,000. This was a distinct surprise for the bulls, who had counted on all easing of the burden of money borrowing against the carrying of stocks of all grades.

The market boiled over in the first half-hour, with sales about 1,000,000 shares, against 525,000 in the same period yesterday. A block of 20,000 shares of Sinclair Oil was traced over in one transaction at a loss of 2 1/4 points from Thursday's close.

Standard Oil was weak, and most of the well-known copper, motor car and steel stocks suffered a shrinkage of a point or two in the early trading.
